What is Bounce Back?
Bounce Back is an adaptation of Cognitive Behavioral Intervention for Trauma in Schools (CBITS) for elementary school students. It is a 10-week school-based group intervention that is used to treat symptoms of Post-traumatic Stress Disorder and accompanying behavioral and emotional challenges. It is designed to help students improve school performance, such as grades, attendance and relationships. Bounce Back is an evidence-based practice that uses cognitive-behavioral techniques, such as psychoeducation, relaxation, cognitive restructuring, exposure, and social problem solving.
