The Title of Our Workshop
Agreements for Sharing Space Today, from Vanessa Jackson, LCSW

- Speak your truth…but hold my heart while you do it.
- Accept that the feelings and issues raised will need to be continued.
- We all share responsibility for creating safe enough spaces.
- Respect that we are at different levels of development on these issues. We need to be creative and patient in holding our container to include a variety of experiences.
- Other ideas?
Outline of Our Time Together

- Definitions: Trauma, Racial Trauma, Resilience & Cultural Resilience
- Quick overview of program design of Kofi and Hlub Zoo, school-based mental health programs with a cultural wellness lens
- Culturally affirming and informed strategies that strengthen our effectiveness
  - Practice developing counter-narratives: small group exercise

Historical Trauma

- Definition: Historical trauma is cumulative emotional and psychological wounding over the lifespan and across generations, emanating from massive group trauma.

(Dr. Maria Yellow Horse Braveheart)

- Today’s Focus:
  - Historical/Racial Trauma
  - African American and Hmong communities
“What is Historical Trauma?”:

“IN A TRAUMA-INFORMED MOVEMENT, RACE AND SLAVERY ARE NEVER MENTIONED. IF IT’S TRAUMA-INFORMED, IT’S GOT TO BE RACE-INFORMED. THERE IS CURRENTLY A DISGUSTING, DESPICABLE SEPARATION BETWEEN THE TWO. THERE IS A BLURRING OF HISTORIC AND CONTEMPORARY CONTEXT...TRAUMA IS TRANSMITTED GENERATIONALLY...WHAT REINFORCES IT IS WHAT HAPPENS IN THE CONTEMPORARY CONTEXT. THERE IS NOT A POST-TRAUMATIC OPTION FOR PEOPLE OF COLOR. WE’RE DEALING WITH THIS EVERY MOMENT.”

-Dr. Ken Hardy
1865: "End" of slavery

1896: Plessy v. Ferguson
Reconstruction: 1 inch
Plessy v. Ferguson ruled: 'separate but equal' was Constitutional

1968: End of Jim Crow
Jim Crow: 2.25 inches
Second-class humanity; brutal, sadistic violence
Racial caste system

2018: Today
Formal Legal Equality: 1.25 inches
Formally, race discrimination is illegal.
Structural racism persists.

1619: Jamestown, VA

Slavery: 7.5 inches
Legal property
Exploited labor
3/5 of a person for census
and tax purposes

No legal rights
Involuntary presence
(different f/ immigration)
One young St. Paul man’s voice
(as expressed in therapy; shared today with permission)

"I am tired. I am tired of being tired I am tired of being angry and f it I am gonna say it I am scared all the time. I am scared to not have my gun on me, I am scared of having it with me, I am scared of motherfers who look like me, I am scared of lone white wolf men, I am scared of women that look like you who are so fin scared of me they will call those people who get paid to lock me up cos I smoke and my skin is dark and those thugs get paid even after they kill someone who looks like me even if his hands are up, back turned, sitting down whatever, I am scared that something will happen to my daughter and the last f I have will be gone so I don't even want her around me cos i get so fin scared that I get mad, no, not mad at her, just mad. Like why can't I just play legos or some sh*t. How do you live when you’re so scared all the time that you are just always mad? Sh*t’s fed."
Self-Reflection

☐ 1. What did I hear?
☐ 2. What am I feeling?
☐ 3. What am I thinking?
☐ 4. What parts of my identity are driving me to think/feel/react in this way?
Racial Trauma is Ubiquitous (for POC).

- Racism: the structural oppression of non-whites, by whites, through: language; cultural norms; physical, emotional and financial abuse; government legislation; and/or misrepresentation in the media. (Didi Delgado)

- Microaggressions: brief and commonplace daily verbal, behavioral, or environmental indignities, whether intentional or unintentional, that communicate hostile, derogatory, or negative racial slights and insults towards people of color. (Dr. Derald Wing Sue)
  - Microassaults (i.e. racial name-calling)
  - Microinsults (i.e. saying “quit playing the ‘race card.’”)
  - Microinvalidations (i.e. claiming “I don’t see color.”)
The Wounds of Racial Trauma

- Racism (structural and interpersonal):
  - Race-related stress for African Americans=a significantly more powerful risk factor than stressful life events for psychological distress.
  - Link

- Hidden Wounds, per Dr. Ken Hardy:
  - Devaluation
  - Assaulted Sense of Self
  - Rage
  - Voicelessness
RESILIENCE

In the days ahead, complete the Resilience Questionnaire (from www.acestoohigh.com) on the back of your handout.

The Rose that grew from concrete:
Did you hear about the rose that grew from a crack in the concrete?
Proving nature's laws wrong
It learned to walk without having feet
Funny it seems, but by keeping its dreams
It learned to breathe FRESH air
Long live the rose that grew from concrete
When no one else, even cared.
Tupac Shakur
Cultural Resilience

- Dr. JuanCarlos Arauz, E3

- One cannot have Educational Excellence without Equity.

- CULTURAL RESILIENCY SKILLS:
  - Innovation
  - Adaptability
  - Cross-cultural communication
  - Critical Analysis
  - Teamwork

Quick overview of our Programs’ Designs
African-Centered Psychology

“The association of Black Psychologists defines African-centered psychology as:

‘the dynamic manifestation of the unifying African principles, values and traditions. It is the self-conscious “centering” of psychological analysis and applications in African reality, culture and epistemology. African-Centered Psychology examines the process that allows for the illumination and liberation of the spirit. Relying on the principles of harmony within the universe as a natural order of existence, African-centered Psychology recognizes: the Spirit that permeates everything that is; the value that the collective is the most salient element of existence; and the idea that communal self-knowledge is the key to mental health.’ (Parham, White, & Ajamu, 1999, p. 95)”

7 Psychological Strengths of African Americans

Dr. Joseph L. White:

1. Improvisation.
2. Resilience.
3. Connectedness to others.
5. Emotional vitality.
6. Gallows humor.
7. Healthy suspicion of white people.

“You should be angry. You must not be bitter. Bitterness is like cancer. It eats upon the host. It doesn’t do anything to the object of its displeasure. So use that anger. You write it. You paint it. You dance it. You march it. You vote it. You do everything about it. You talk it. Never stop talking it.” —Maya Angelou
Hmong Role in the CIA’s Secret War in Laos 1963-1975

- Long Cheng – an airbase in Laos – was the focal point of the Hmong and U.S. effort to defeat the Communist Pathet Lao and North Vietnamese in Laos.
- The late William Colby, Director of the CIA during the Reagan administration, credited the Hmong with saving the lives of thousands of U.S. soldiers as they blocked the North Vietnamese from their efforts to extend the Ho Chi Minh Trail into Laos for several years.
- The full extent of the Hmong role assisting the U.S. in the Vietnam War era was not officially acknowledged by the CIA and U.S. officials until the early 1980s.

This 1998 photo shows the long-abandoned Long Cheng airstrip in Laos from the air. From Adventures in Laos Website: http://homepage.mac.com/peterlaos/Laos1998/Gallery15.html
Cultural Influences

Culturally-Affirming and Informed Strategies
Counter-Narratives

That honor the resiliency in communities of color
 Definitions: Narratives

- Narratives: Stories, messages, tools for meaning-making
  - “We tell ourselves stories in order to live.” –Joan Didion
  - Human beings are literally hardwired for narrative. Stories are the threads of our lives and weave together to form the fabric of human cultures. A story can inform or deceive, enlighten or entertain, or all of the above at once. We live in a world shaped by stories.

http://beautifultrouble.org/theory/narrative-power-analysis/
Dominant Narrative: The Dominant Narrative is generally described as the colonially-derived version of events, emphasizing Eurocentric perspectives.

Counter-Narrative: A narrative that goes against another narrative...an argument that disputes a commonly held belief.

The Counter Narrative offers accounts of history from diverse perspectives, with a critical examination of the widely accepted, colonially-derived story. Reading or writing counter-narratives is part of a process of de-colonizing, or dismantling and questioning the histories that are regularly read, repeated, and studied in mainstream life and education.
“Until the story of the hunt is told by the lion, the tale of the hunt will always glorify the hunter.” —African Proverb
Identifying Dominant Narratives

GROUP DISCUSSION:
- What are some common (Dominant) Narratives about youth or families of color?

PARTNER EXERCISE:
- Developing Counter-Narratives
Counter-Narratives: making new meaning

□ Samples of what we hear in Kofi:
  ▪ Oppositional → ________________________________
  ▪ “Doesn’t speak proper English” → __________________
  ▪ Hostile/Abusive parent → ______________________

Samples of what we hear in Hlub Zoo:
  ▪ Hmong females are quiet and submissive → ___________
Dominant Narrative

- Oppositional
"To be a Negro in this country and to be relatively conscious is to be in a rage almost all the time."

~James Baldwin
Counter-Narrative

Oppositional → RIGHTEOUSLY RAGEFUL
Dominant Narrative

"Doesn’t speak proper English"
Steven Willis, “Ebonics 101”
https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=CB8pBiUavtg
Counter-Narrative

“Doesn’t speak proper English” ➔ BILINGUAL
Dominant Narrative

- Hostile/Abusive parent
Counter-Narrative

- Hostile/abusive parent → often desperate to PROTECT THEIR CHILD
Hmong females are quiet and submissive.
Mission: To be the catalyst for lasting cultural, institutional, and social change to improve the lives of Hmong women.

Services provided: Four program areas: Leadership; Equity programs (intervention and prevention services for Hmong women and girls); Coalition Building; Research and distribution of information on Hmong women and girls.
Counter-narrative

- Quiet/submissive females $\rightarrow$ strength and power in learning and understanding
The Power of Relationships
Ubuntu
I am because we are.
- West African Proverb
People grow when they are loved well.
In Lak’ech (I Am You or You are Me)

Tú eres mi otro you
Si te hago daño a ti
Me hago daño a mí mismo
Si te amo y respeto.
Me amo y respeto you.

You are my other me.
If I do harm to you.
I do harm to myself.
If I love and respect you,
I love and respect myself.

Mayan inspired poem, “Pensamiento Serpentino”
Relationship: the center of everything we do!

We need SELF-REFLECTION & CONSULTATION to explore questions like:
- What am I bringing to this relationship?
- Which experiences from my life are showing up in challenging moments?
Relationship with others

- 5 critical relationship principles, per Dr. Ken Hardy (in general & especially across racial difference):
  - Intensity: risking beyond our comfort
  - Intimacy: being vulnerable
  - Authenticity: being genuine
  - Congruency (incongruency heightens sensitivity of POC due to legacies of betrayal.)
  - Transparency: willingness to show self and be seen.
“Relentless validation is the cornerstone of my practice.”

“If challenging isn’t working, you haven’t done enough validating.” –Dr. Ken Hardy

- Partner Exercise:
  - Use real-life example.
Additional Culturally-Affirming Strategies/Reminders

- Invest in relationship: seeing and communicating strengths
  - Call parents to convey positive messages before negative calls home.

- Dr. Bravada Garrett Akinsanya’s Tips:
  - “Become aware of your own cultural background. Become convinced that just because someone else’s customs and beliefs are different from yours, there are no right or wrong cultural beliefs. Establish personalized contact with individuals and their families from the communities you serve. Learn about the people that you serve. Become educated in cultural beliefs of the people you serve. Try to accommodate the needs of individuals and focus on being Person-Centered. Be sensitive to the person’s cultural perception of their needs. Try to discover some commonalities of experiences.”

- Q-TIP: Quit taking it personally. (Many of these challenges are rooted in generations of pain and systematic oppression.)

- Use the trauma/stressor-related disorder category in DSM5 as appropriate
Dr. Bettina Love

For white folks: “Y’all have no right to measure our grit…You get a 400 year head start and there’s an achievement gap?…Don’t call them “1st generation college students: there was a GATE and we were NOT LET IN…’At-risk’…At risk for what? FINISH THE THOUGHT. STOP USING SILLY LANGUAGE!!”

When we talk about “character education,” the roots are “Black kids need to be tamed.” same as treatment of Native Americans in this country. (similar toolkit)

Myth of meritocracy: If we teach that the system is fair and you can be who you want to be…and students fail, who do they blame? THEMSELVES.

Students are brilliant. Get out of their way!! Our students have a BEAUTIFUL culture: complex language shifting abilities, kinesthetic brilliance, improvisation, self-expression, focused play, creativity, memory

When white people say, “I don’t understand hip hop”: “Cool. Move around. We’re trying to get our souls filled.” (Hip Hop=Negro spiritual)
Healing the Hidden Wounds of Racial Trauma, Dr. Ken Hardy

- Step One. Acknowledgment and Affirmation.
- Step Two. Create Space for Race.
- Step Four. Validation.
- Step Five. The Process of Naming.
- Step Six. Externalize Devaluation.
- Step Seven. Counteract Devaluation.
- Step Eight. Rechanneling Rage.

1.) What were the original instructions for the people?
START WITH THE BEAUTY. START WITH THE GOODNESS.

2.) What were the historically traumatic events that happened to the community?
- How did the community respond?
- What were the survival strategies?

3.) What were the family’s responses?
"You are so worth your own time and attention."
~Kelly Ann Matuskiewicz

Caring for myself is not self-indulgence, it is self-preservation and that is an act of political warfare.

Wrapping Up

Q & A

Courage doesn't always roar. Sometimes courage is the little voice at the end of the day that says I'll try again tomorrow.
