

The Annual Conference on Advancing School Mental Health Conference Awards

All conference award winners will be honored at the awards luncheon and receive one free conference registration for the following year.

All nominations are due by July 29, 2019.

2018 recipients

Juanita Cunningham Evans Memorial Award <http://bit.ly/JCE-award>

The Juanita Cunningham Evans Memorial Award is awarded in on-going memorial to Juanita Cunningham Evans, an instrumental developer of the National Center for School Mental Health. The award is given to an individual who significantly impacted the advancement of school mental health policy, research, and/or practice. Nominations for this award should include a one-page description of the nominee's contributions to enhance policy, research, or practice in school mental health.

David Osher

Youth and Family Partnership Award <http://bit.ly/YAP-award>

The Youth and Family Partnership Award is given to one exemplar school district, organization, or school mental health program that effectively partners with youth and families to deliver quality school mental health programming. Nominations for this award must include a one-page description of the nominee site's successful partnership efforts. We encourage nominations to include models that encompass clear frameworks/approaches for youth and family engagement, as well as letters of support from youth and/or families.

Jennifer Ulie-Wells

School Mental Health Champion Award <http://bit.ly/SMH-champion-award>

The School Mental Health Champion Award acknowledges an individual who has provided exceptional leadership and vision in the advancement of school mental health. Nominations for this award should include a one-page description of the nominee's contributions to the advancement of school mental health.

John Crocker

Research Award <http://bit.ly/SMH-research-award>

The Research Award is presented to an individual who has published research that has made important contributions to research and practice in school mental health. Nominations for this award should include a one-page description of the nominee's contributions to the advancement of school mental health research.

Catherine
Bradshaw

Visit bit.ly/ASMH_2019 or schoolmentalhealth.org for more information.