The School Health Interdisciplinary Program (SHIP) conference is a multi-faceted approach to continuing education. SHIP providers comprehensive training on coordinated school health. This conference focuses on topics vital to school professionals. SHIP is committed to advancing quality and sustainability in school health, with this year’s theme of Addressing the School and Community: What Works in School Health and Wellness. Training will focus on helping school-based professionals understand core concepts in the school health field, including best practice strategies and policies.

SHIP is co-sponsored by the National Center for School Mental Health at the University of Maryland School of Medicine; the Maryland Department of Health, the Maryland State Department of Education, and the Maryland State School Health Council.

The target audience for the conference includes: school nurses, school social workers, school psychologists, school-based health center staff, administrators, after-school program providers, alternative program staff, child advocates, health educators, school teachers and support staff, community and faith-based representatives, child serving agency staff, mental health practitioners, substance use providers, pediatricians, occupational therapists, psychologists, psychiatrists, pupil personnel workers, school counselors, school resource officers, social workers, and special educators.

Professional continuing education hours will be complimentary for counselors, nurses, psychologists, and social workers. The University of Maryland School of Nursing is accredited as a provider of continuing nursing education by the American Nurses Credentialing Center’s Commission on Accreditation.
